

Essay Exam Questions

- Don't study for total recall of names, dates, facts, and figures as you might for an objective test. Instead study for understanding, not just memorization of facts.
- Do learn main ideas, key terms, steps in an argument, stages in a process, etc.
 Also, memorize at least some key phrases, definitions, or short passages in your own words.
 This will save time during the test and will help structure your thoughts.
- Do anticipate exam questions. If, for example, you have studied both the fall of Greece and the fall of Rome, there may be an exam question which asks you to compare and contrast these events.
- 4. Read through the whole test first. Answers will come to mind immediately for some questions. Jot down key words now while they are fresh in mind, but don't start writing down your answer until you have glanced over the entire test. Then, go back to the questions or sections you know best and begin there.
- 5. Budget your time. Know how many questions will be on the test and decide how much time you can spend on each. When the time is up for one question, stop writing and begin the next one. Also budget enough time at the end to go back and finish those incomplete answers. For example, on a six question exam, six "incomplete" answers may receive more credit than only three complete ones, so try not to leave any questions completely unanswered.
- Answer the questions you know best first. And don't panic about any you think you don't know. Stay calm.
- 7. Take time to structure your answer, even if you are in a hurry. Whenever you can, work from a brief outline. Start by jotting down ideas / thoughts on scratch paper. Select what is clearly relevant; try to avoid rambling. Then begin writing.
- Come straight to the point in your answer. Make your very first sentence sum up your main point. If you are writing a lengthy answer, summarize the key points in an introductory paragraph.
- 9. Qualify answers when in doubt. It is better to say "toward the end of the 19th century" than to say in "1884" when you can't remember whether it's 1884 or 1894. The approximate time may be all that is necessary, but you may lose credit for an incorrect date.
- 10. Take time at the end to reread the exam. Make sure you have answered ALL parts of the question. Proofread your work before turning it in.

TITLE: An alternative path to improving university Earth science teaching and developing the geoseience workforce: Postdoctoral research faculty involvement in clinical teacher preparation

ABSTRACT BODY: It is estimated that by the year 2020 relative to 2009, there will be 28% more Earth Science jobs paying ≥ $75,000/year¹ in the U.S.A. These jobs will require advanced degrees, but compared to all ants and science advanced degrees, the number of physical science, MS. and Ph.D. awarded per year decreased from 2.5% in 1980 to 1.5% in 2009². This decline is reflected on a smaller scale and at a younger age: in the New York City school system only 36% of all Bin gardes have basis proficiency in science ². These figures indicate that the lack achievement in science starts at a young age and then extends into higher education. Research has shown that students in grades 7 – 12. ⁴ and in university level courses ⁶ both respond positively to high quality science teaching. However, much attention is focused on improving science teaching in grades. 7 – 12. ⁴ and in university level courses ⁶ both respond positively to high quality science teaching. Why did Henry the VIII break from Rome?

Henry the VIII broke from Rome because of four main reasons: money, control and power, religion and succession. Some of the four main reasons are linked together as one is important for the other; one example is succession which is linked to power. By having a son he thought it would maintain his power at the throne when he was no longer ruler. I think that power was the most important reason. I think this because if he broke away from the Church of Rome, he could take control of the church. This meant that he could unlock the riches that the church held. By doing this he could pay for the wars he fought and the power he had over his people. He also would have more money to leave in the treasury, not only for himself but future generations. The money would lead to power; his greatest desire. To carry this power on he wanted it to be entrusted in a son. All the reasons link together to show his need for power as king.

One of the reasons why Henry broke from the Roman Church was because he needed money. When Henry was made king he was short of money because he had fought lots of expensive wars. Henry then noticed that the church had a lot of money. If he took over the church all of its treasury would be his. Source I states that "monasteries were very rich and owned about a quarter of the land in the country", so he could then close down the monasteries, take their money and sell of the land. Henry needed the money for power so that he could then build a stronger army and fight more wars. This would then

The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire

By Sarah Ruhomauly

Question: Describe and account for the decline and fall of the Roman Empire in the west from A.D.198 to A.D. 476.

Rome had grown to be a vast empire. It united countries from Spain to Syria and Scotland to Egypt in the Pax Romana, in a period of peace never seen before in Europe. However, no man-established government can last forever, and Rome fell, the whole empire, but the city of Rome in the West Empire. The fall of the city of Rome, the capital in the west of the Empire, was an event that took place gradually throughout many chaotic and corrupted years in the growth of the Empire. Its good emperors had built it and made it strong. However, its crazy emperors, the political infighting, the corruption, the pagan ways of the people, and the fatal invasion of the barbarian Germans and other tribes undermined the city.

What were the primary reasons for the fall of rome background essay answers.

People knew it was a bad idea and began to want something new. This is the same with Rome. Rome $\tilde{A} \ \ c \ \ d \ \ c \ \ c \ \ c$ developed a soft belly $\tilde{A} \ \ c \ \ c \ \ c$ developed a soft belly $\tilde{A} \ \ c$ developed a soft belly $\tilde{A} \ \ c \ \ c$ developed a soft belly $\tilde{A} \ \ c \ \ c$ developed a soft belly $\tilde{A} \ \ c$ developed a soft bell $\tilde{A} \ \ c$ develop an overwhelming desire to seize the ownership of others so that we can assume that they had made Rome an open field giant of the things of the people. But that was not the main reason of the fall of Rome. The inflation rate was fired, the increase in daily needs decreased the value of money. While the missionaries fled the Roman arges, the citizens were forced to pay a huge amount of taxes. With important commercial exchanges in Africa and Great Britain, the economy flourished by providing many citizens a healthy income. During the Roman pax, the Romans had 200 years of peace and good governance of dictators and level emperors. Also in the background test is stated that the leaders were closer to leaving their own instead of focusing on the debate and commitment. WORDS: 647 PAGE: 3 The fall of Rome Are you ever thought that the most powerful empire had fallen? And, one by one, all dominated them will eventually fall. As the latifundio took over, more farmers were left out of work and on the session of work they moved to the cities and "â € œIn-unemployment there" â € (document 3). In document C it is affirmed that they were absolutely wild and very destructive. The Roman Empire had fallen due to its size, being lazy, there were plenty of attackers, and people had wanted Rome out The crime rate increased as citizens stole more and more If you are seeing this message, it means that we are having trouble loading external resources into our own But with no farmers to grow the food for the soldiers, who would? Surprisingly all of these qualities that led up to a flourishing empire were the same ones that led to its demise. As the Romans economy faltered, so did their social well being. They had many successes, but, had failed in the end. Its military was one of the finest. It was powerful and had never lost. Despite Rome¢ÃÂÂs greatness in all of these areas, Rome would eventually fall. If they wouldn't have allowed it then the army wouldn't have gotten lazy and weak and they would have been able to defend the empire properly. But, in Document C it shows that ¢ÃÂÂThey had many invasion plans but there was also different way that people had gone to escape the invaders.¢Ã This had shown that many people had lost confidence in their new leaders. The second reason that Rome had fallen was due to the fact that most of the people were lazy. But the expansion didn¢ÃÂt stop there. The flow of money going out. Rome was one of the powerfulest and largest state. The three primary reasons that had most contributed to Rome's fall is foreign invasions, military weakness, and weak leadership. This had showed that Rome was not a place that people had wanted to be during the time and people were fed up with Show More Economic corruption, weak army, and foreign¢ÃA¦Â. The Roman empire was known as one of the first powerful empires.
